

“Commutative”

a poem inspired by Lonnie Harkins’s photo, You Decide
by Judy Angelheart

Tilt

Turn

The other day

Could have sworn there was a small creature

In the shower

On closer inspection

It was just a draped rag

Now you see it

Now you know

So there it goes

Tilting

Turning the mundane

Changes everything

Look again

What do you see